

Grandmother said, "Spring is a time when many people plant new gardens. I will tell you a story about a garden."

Grandmother said, "Carla Laughing Girl, this story is about your family from long ago."

Here is Grandmother's story.

Laughing Girl wanted to surprise her mother. She wanted to plant a new garden near their old barn. She picked up a shovel and some seeds. She walked past the barn and started to dig.

Suddenly, Laughing Girl heard soft growling. She looked up and saw a great bear.

Laughing Girl asked, "Mother Bear, why are you here?"

Mother Bear said, "Do not be afraid. I am here to warn you about a danger. The danger is lead."

Mother Bear said, “There is lead in the dirt near the barn. Lead from old paint dust and flakes from the barn fell into the dirt. Lead from old gas in cars and tractors fell into the dirt.”

This place is not safe for a garden. You can find another place.”

Laughing Girl did as Mother Bear said. She said, “I know another place. It is far from old paint dust and flakes. It is far from old gas. I will make my mother’s garden there.”

Mother Bear’s Healthy Food Quiz

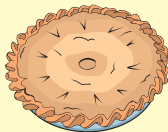

Mother Bear said, “Some foods can help keep your body safe from lead. These healthy foods include fruits and vegetables, beans, lean meats, lowfat dairy foods, and bread, cereal, and rice. Other foods do not help keep your body safe from lead. These foods have a lot of sugar, fat, or salt. If you eat them, eat only small amounts, and eat them only once in a while.”

Grandmother's Advice

Grandmother said, "Children, I have told you what Mother Bear taught our children long ago so that they could be safe from lead dangers.

Do you have any questions?"

Jesse Bright Sun said,

"Grandmother, I am worried. I know that some paint has lead. I am afraid to use my paint box and finger-paints."

Molly Small Deer said, "Grandmother, I am worried too. I have a pencil. I heard someone call it a 'lead pencil.' I am afraid to use my pencil."

Kyle Fire Walker and Carla Laughing Girl nodded. They too were worried.

Grandmother said, "Children, you do not have to worry. Your paint boxes are safe. They are marked 'nontoxic.' That means there is no lead in the paint."

NONTOXIC

Grandmother said, "Your finger-paints are safe too. They are marked 'nontoxic.' That means there is no lead in the finger-paints."

Grandmother said, "Your pencils are safe.

A long time ago, pencils had lead in them.

But today there is no lead in pencils."

Grandmother said, "Children, it is good that you ask these questions. Always ask a grownup if you are worried about lead."

Let's Write about It

Do you have any questions about lead? You can write them here.

Who are some grownups you can ask about lead?

Maybe it's your mother or father.

Maybe it's your grandmother or grandfather.

Maybe it's your aunt or uncle.

Maybe it's your teacher or a tribal elder.

You can write their names here.

Mother Bear's Pledge

Grandmother said, "Mother Bear wants all children to be safe from lead dangers. You can help Mother Bear by taking this pledge."

The children all stood and said Mother Bear's pledge. Can you do that now? You can make Mother Bear's pledge into a chant if you like.

Grandmother said, “Children, you have
done good work today.
You have learned about lead. You can stay safe from lead, and you can help your brothers and sisters stay safe.
Mother Bear will be happy.”

Grandmother said, “Children,
now you can teach other people how to be safe. Mother Bear will be happy.”

Below, write the names of other children or grownups you would like to tell about lead safety.

Make a Poster for Your Home

Make your own lead-safety poster in the space below. You can draw or write anything that will help other people learn how to be safe from lead. You can use crayons, markers, pencils, pens, or paint.
